frequently asked questions

Where do events take place?

Tasting events can be held at places of businesses, private residences, or other destinations—applicable to local laws and restrictions, of course. Please note that events involving alcohol may require additional permits not included in the cost of event based on your selected venue. We'll be glad to discuss the options and any requirements with you prior to booking your event.

Who are my event hosts?

All of our event hosts are subject matter specialists in their respective fields. Depending on the event format you select, we'll introduce you to your host and their credentials early in the planning process.

Can you make suggestions on food pairings?

Absolutely! For events involving beer, wine, and spirits, we always advise that our clients offer snacks or small plates as an element of responsible consumption. Not only will we provide recommendations on pairings, but we are happy to also coordinate catering or pre-package selections through a variety of our fantastic partners.
